Telecom Regulatory Authority of India

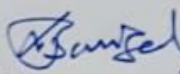

Subject: Implementation of eOffice in TRAI.

1st January 2021, New Delhi: Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) has implemented eOffice form today. This eOffice platform has been inaugurated by Dr. P. D. Vaghela, Chairman, TRAI.

The main objective of eOffice is to bring in further efficiency and standardization of processes in the internal working of the organization. During the COVID-19 time it is necessary that there is minimum movement of paper/files in offices.

With the adoption of eOffice, TRAI has now become largely paperless organization. This adoption shall ensure greater accountability and transparency in administration. It shall reduce costs incurred in storage and preservation of physical files and reduce chances of data loss due to tampering of files/loss of files. It shall also facilitate officers to dispose off files from "anywhere anytime" thereby improving work efficiency, with 24/7 access to files and important papers. With the launch of eOffice TRAI has taken another significant step in having greater transparency in its operations.
