Yes we need separate plans for voice,sms & data, that the users can select according to their needs without wasting their money.

I have 2 sims cards, so I only need 1 bundle pack. For the secondary sim I only need voice plan but company is providing me data & sms pack with it which I am not using in that.

Also for my grandparents who use feature phone the plans come with internet. What is use of that is just simply wasting money.

Thank You for considering this enquiry hopefully I think some quick action will taken into this issue.

With regards
