

ved verma <sroqos@gmail.com>

Counter comments to Consultation paper

Zain Asif <zender6996@gmail.com>

Wed, May 21, 2014 at 1:11 PM

To: ved verma <sroqos@gmail.com>

Hello Mr. Verma.

Thanks for your reply, i wasn't expecting one soon but i'm surprised. However i'm not able to counter comment Tata telecom's consultation paper of why they do not want trai to mandate a minimum speed. I get following error on the site <http://www.trai.gov.in/UserComntReg.aspx>

It is clear that it would be so terrible for their business. Maybe they do not know that in country like India it does not rain or thunderstorm or flood all the time, well atleast not in every circle, secondly even if there are least number of users online there is no change in speed what so ever, you can't upload photos online like facebook while on their 153.6 kbps plan or play games etc. Such service is a mess. how are other countries able to do better?

Do these Indian companies when operating in foreign countries offers same service there also? I don't think so.

Also, it is only fair for such companies to reduce their tariff in case they are not able to move ahead and offer us quality service. Why should we pay them that heavy when all they are going to provide us is such 3rd grade service and hundreds of excuses?

Thank you for your time.

Warm regards.

On Tue, May 20, 2014 at 5:57 PM, ved verma <sroqos@gmail.com> wrote:

[Quoted text hidden]